Lunations and Long-term Aspects

The New Moon on December 5 is in Sagittarius, your 11th House of groups, organizations, friends, networking and goals. Aquarius rules the zodiacal 11th House so this is familiar ground for you so watch for something new to come into your life in this area. If your birthday is within a day or so of February 3rd, you can definitely expect a new opportunity to come your way through one of your many friends. Setting new goals for the upcoming year are also favored, particularly as you experience new insights and perhaps some inspiration with regard to some part of your life which has been bothersome lately. You may find that something related to your finances or income are presenting an obstacle to moving forward, but don't give up; make "where there's a will, there's a way" your ongoing mantra. You may need to restructure your beliefs, discipline yourself to expand your education, or relocate to get what you want, but nothing is impossible once you set your mind on it. Venus is transiting your 10th House of career, which will last until January 8, so put her blessings to good use in this part of your life.

The Full Moon on December 21 is also a Lunar Eclipse, giving it a bit more punch. It hails from fellow Air Sign, Gemini, and will have the strongest influence for those of you born within a day or so of February 18. Gemini is your 5th House of ego definition, creativity, romance, entertainment, speculation and children, so this is where you're likely to encounter some activity. A Lunar Eclipse operates more internally on the mental or emotional plane though the Solar Eclipse coming up in January is likely to precipitate events. Mercury is retrograde for this eclipse, which gives it the flavor of reconsidering or revising something that is likely to relate to your friends and goals as well as your finances or income in some way. Using your imagination and visualizing what you want is the key to getting through whatever obstacles may be in the way. Picture yourself as having the power to make them disappear before your eyes and you'll find a way to do just that.

Short-term Aspects

December 1: Insights or inspiration related to your career is available, perhaps through your dreams, so make a conscious effort to remember them.

December 2: Act upon anything that seems inspired, including contacting anyone who comes to mind. Something favorable for achieving your goals will come as a result.

December 3: An unexpected expense may arise today or problem related to an acquaintance. If you're trying to pursue a goal, expect an obstacle to appear out of the blue.

December 5: New Moon today as described above. Deep insights and previously hidden information are likely to come forth.

December 6: Uranus, your Sign Ruler, comes out of retrograde, allowing his innovation and power to make rapid changes to operate more openly.

December 7: Something you want to accomplish is becoming clearer and an opportunity to achieve it is directly associated with your belief in doing so.

December 8: Mars goes into Capricorn, bringing his energy to your dreams and inspiration. Be aware, however, that this could also evoke a hidden enemy or incline you toward self-defeating behavior.

December 10: Mercury goes retrograde until December 30, so don't buy any mechanical or electronic devices until it's over. This is a favorable time, however, to reconsider anything in your life that isn't working to your satisfaction and figuring out why. Particularly pay attention to your career field or line of work and whether you're in the right place or not.

December 13: There's a lot going on today in your 12th House which comprises dreams, spirituality, your angels and demons, institutions, seclusion, hidden enemies, confinement and self-undoing. You may have dreams that are particularly intense at this time. Pay attention to what they're telling you.

December 15: Today looks favorable with regard to your career and income. Whatever that means to you, don't let it slip away.

December 16: Hanging out with your friends may tempt you to spend money you don't have. Keep your goals in mind and don't give in.

December 18: A favorable day to hang out with your friends and reconsider your goals. A conversation with someone may provide new inspiration. Expect the unexpected with regard to your career and finances as well as your goals and networking activities. A certain female may be particularly annoying today.

December 19: Mercury backs into Sagittarius, a favorable time to revise and reconsider your current goals and friends. Something is likely to become clear with regard to your friends or goals. Watch your back with regard to your career.

December 20: Another day which could be loaded with surprises which may involve your finances. Take another look at your goals to make sure they're on-target and realistic.

December 21: Full Moon in Gemini as described above. The Sun goes into Capricorn, bringing emphasis to your 12th House which should help you figure out a few things.

December 22: Watch out for deception or illusions today. Someone you thought you can trust may be up to no good.

December 23: Expect a few annoyances today, especially with regard to your career, beliefs and expectations and any authority figures in your life.

December 26: Watch for something to come to light today which was previously kept buried.

December 27: Irritations related to your group associations or friends as well as your status are expected.

December 28: Watch for hidden information relative to your career to surface.

December 29: Challenges are likely today, though some of them may be a result of your own behavior or expectations. Make sure you're aware of when you make things more difficult.

December 30: Mercury comes out of retrograde, making it time to move forward again with regard to your goals and also time to return any electronic or mechanical devices you received as Christmas presents.
