Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month the New Moon is on the 15th in Pisces, your 8th House of transformations, sex, death and other people's resources, a.k.a. debt. Each of those are heavy duty areas where just about any incident will have long-lasting effects. Transformations typically are effected by experiences after which we can never go back to where we were before. A New Moon usually brings something new into your life, which in the 8th House is likely to be something you've never experienced before. This won't necessarily be a bad thing, but it is going to represent a course change from where you may have thought you were headed before. If your birthday is a day one way or the other from August 19th this will be even more apparent.

This New Moon comes with an entourage that comprises Mercury, Uranus and Jupiter, which are all resident in Pisces at that time. Mercury and Uranus are conjunct each other and conjunct the Sun/Moon, suggesting that some unexpected or disruptive news is on its way. Jupiter's presence implies your belief system will be affected in some manner as well as your horizons are expanded. Saturn is opposing the New Moon quartet from Libra, your 3rd House of thoughts, ideas, short journeys, siblings, and neighbors. This suggests some resistance on your part to what should be readily apparent and also indicates a need to restructure your thoughts as a result. As a Fixed Sign, this is no easy task, but something the Universe has on your agenda, like it or not. Saturn is already retrograde, which tends to institute the necessary delays to accomplish restructuring as old issues are addressed and resolved. You may not even know what they are, but it will come out by the end of May.

There are two favorable aspects associated with this lunation, however, both of which are associated with Mars who is in your sign and no longer retrograde by the time the New Moon occurs. This will give you a new sense of direction. While retrograde, Mars was nudging you to take care of some unresolved issue that you hadn't handled correctly on the first go-round. Since this was occurring in your 1st House of personality, this is likely to relate to you at a very personal level. Leos with birthdays between July 23 - August 12 will be affected the most. If you addressed these matters in an appropriate way, this will assist you in mitigating all that is going on with this New Moon. This is all most likely to take place on the mental plane and affect your attitude in such a way that you become a slightly different person. Saturn is still grinding away on your thought processes or perhaps issues related to your neighbors or siblings, but your response to taking care of something you neglected to take proper action on previously will assist you.

The Full Moon on March 29 occurs in Libra, your 3rd House of thoughts and so forth as mentioned earlier. The Full Moon brings a culmination or possibly a new phase. Again, this reinforces changes in attitude and beliefs which will transform you to a slightly different person than you were before. Look to your 6th House of work, health and pets to have an influence on this lunations as well. Pluto is chugging away at glacial speed in that part of your life, unearthing anything that was never properly resolved. A sense of mental restlessness or downright rebellion is possible as you sense the need to make some changes in your attitude or thoughts that may be self-defeating or not taking you in the right direction. By this time the Sun, Mercury and Venus will all be in fellow Fire Sign, Aries, your 9th House of beliefs and expectations, which will further facilitate this process.

Short-term Aspects

March 1: Something will grab your attention today which will let you know that a course change is required. Mercury goes into Pisces, which will help direct your thoughts in the proper channels to identify exactly what it may be.

March 2: Ideas continue to flow, nudging you even further toward the restructuring that needs to be done to your attitude. This is not to say that it has been bad up until now, only that there are some upgrades in order.

March 3: There is a reasonably good chance of a minor windfall today that comes out of the blue. However, don't count your chickens before they're hatched as it may not involve cash.

March 4: Ponder recent events over the last year or so, perhaps longer, that relate to your work, health or pets. You'll have the opportunity to understand it at a deeper level than previously.

March 7: Venus goes into Aries today, bringing her blessings to your 9th House of beliefs, expectations, higher learning, long-distance travel, relocation, legal matters, religion, politics and so forth. This will effect some luck or something else of a positive nature in this part of your life. Interactions with the opposite sex are also favored. Information that will ultimately feed that transformation is out there as well.

March 9: Examine your beliefs carefully, then see if they are in synch with your thoughts.

March 10: Mars comes out of retrograde today, which will take off the brakes that have been engaged since before Christmas with regard to moving forward.

March 11: Continue to look at those beliefs, aspirations to expand your education, cultural attitudes, or anything else that you need to exhume and rectify.

March 14: Your thoughts should be clear and focused which should help you understand what is going on around you at this time.

March 15: New Moon today as described above.

March 17: Expect the unexpected today and expect it to affect you in a deep, meaningful way. Mercury goes into Aries, increasing your mental energy with regard to examining your beliefs and expectation more clearly. This, in turn, will motivate you to action.

March 18: You may hit a wall today when your thoughts collide with your beliefs. Change doesn't come easily for Fixed Signs but arguing with the Universe is futile.

March 20: The Sun goes into Aries, further emphasizing your beliefs, expectations and those other 9th House matters defined under March 7. Look back at those work issues that messed you up in some way or address any health issues.

March 21: Your beliefs can motivate positive action today. If you've finally identified something that needs to be resolved, now is an excellent time to move forward and take care of business. It should be clear where some of your thoughts were off-base and a means to correct them.

March 22: Understanding ways to restructure your thoughts, take more responsibility for your actions, and move forward in a positive way are out there today.

March 25: Old issues related to work or health issues, or perhaps the need to provide service, may clash with a new discovery.

March 29: Full Moon today as described above.

March 31: Upgrading your thoughts will help effect new beliefs and expectations. It may be time to take a new look at an old relationship. Venus goes into Taurus today, bringing her blessings to your career, reputation, status and public image. This will be in effect until April 26 so put it to good use while it lasts.
