Long-term Aspects and Lunations

The New Moon this month is on the 15th in Pisces, your 4th House of home environment, so keep an eye out for new developments there, especially if your birthday is within a day or two of December 17th. Whatever it is will most likely come as a surprise of some sort so more than likely you won't miss it. In fact, there's a regular quartet participating between the Sun, Moon, Mercury and Uranus with Jupiter, your Sign Ruler, looking on from the wings. Jupiter's involvement, even remotely, implies it could be a biggie.

The aspects involved may provide a few hints, one of which is the fact that retrograde Saturn is opposing the entire quartet from Libra, your 11th House of friends, organizations, group interactions, hopes and wishes with goals in that venue as well. Retrograde Saturn is working on something in that part of your life that needs to be restructured, one way or the other, as well as something that lies in your 10th House of career, status and reputation since during the retrograde period he will be traversing both Libra and Virgo. Saturn is all about responsibilities, structure, obligation, authority figures and fun stuff like that. This suggests that maybe you need to either set some new goals or start collecting some new friends and associates which is likely to come to your attention with the surprise event centered around your home.

Mars in fellow Fire Sign, Leo, is in there as well, but he looks like he's going to give you a hand getting things off the ground. He comes out of retrograde on March 10, a few days before the New Moon, so it's time to take action on whatever that unresolved or perhaps unfinished issue is that probably resides in your 9th House. This is home ground for Sagittarius since you rule the zodiacal 9th House which comprises beliefs, expectations, religion, politics, higher learning, legal matters, other cultures, relocation and long-distance travel, all in all some of your very favorite things. Mars is creating an aspect pattern known as a Triangle of Potential between Saturn and that New Moon quartet which indicates that taking action on some 9th House issues, such as going back to school or relocating, will mitigate or even resolve that other situation, whatever it might be. You might want to look at your financial situation while you're at it.

The Full Moon on March 29 occurs in Libra, your aforementioned 11th House. This further indicates that it's time to move on from something in that part of your life since a Full Moon signifies an ending or culmination. Mars is still assisting, providing some motivation, though there may be some conflict hailing from your children, love interest, or perhaps you'll have to give up something you really like in order to make room for new endeavors. Using your imagination can help find the solution, whether it's love or money; in fact, if money is an issue, maybe it will hail from some speculation or profit resulting from a creative effort. It appears that remodeling your finances is an undercurrent here, which the Full Moon is going to emphasize in some manner and force you to confront. If you're having difficulties of any variety, now is the time to trust the Universe, using your natural optimism and go ahead and step toward the edge of the light.

Daily and Short-term Aspects

March 1: Mercury goes into Pisces today, stimulating communications and information with regard to your home environment and/or situation, as the case may be. There is something left undone from the past that you should be tending to, so if you haven't figured it out yet, now is the time. Expect it to necessitate a change of course.

March 2: That course change is likely to relate to your career or status with overtone that will affect your goals as well as your group associations. Keep an eye out for an indicator that points in that direction.

March 3: Something unexpected related to either money or a female within your home environment is on its way.

March 4: Whatever is going on there at home is going to require some major renovations in the financial department. Start looking at them now to figure out what needs to be done.

March 7: Venus goes into Aries, bringing her blessings to your 5th House of self-expression, creativity, children, romantic interests, entertainment and speculation. She immediately throws a nice, friendly trine to Mars, enhancing relationships with members of the opposite sex and also assisting with that unresolved or unfinished business in your 9th House of beliefs and so forth as noted above. Possibly major developments on the homefront may contribute as well.

March 9: New ideas and direction may hit a bit of a wall today with respect to current associations, friends or goals. You're smart enough to figure things out.

March 10: Mars comes out of retrograde today, so get ready, set, GO! on those big plans.

March 11: If financial obstacles are in the way, your creativity or possibly some luck with regard to a speculation may be your answer. This isn't a hint to invest huge sums of money in lottery tickets, by the way. Perhaps you're spending too much money on the things you enjoy which is keeping you from moving forward in a more serious way.

March 14: A favorable day to discuss the situation on the homefront since answers are likely to come to light.

March 15: New Moon today as described above.

March 17: More surprises that could be disruptive are waiting for you at home. Mercury goes into Aries today, stimulating communication and creative ideas that will relate to how to get started on that new endeavor.

March 18: Whatever restructuring that's in progress with your career, status or group interactions and goals, will come into the game today.

March 20: The Sun goes into Aries, bringing emphasis and probably some assistance with your creative endeavors, children, love life or something else you enjoy. News or information relative to your finances or possessions of some sort is likely as well. It's actually a good day to take a break and enjoy yourself as well.

March 21: More emphasis on that new direction will come your way today, perhaps showing you the path to follow.

March 22: Opportunities to have your cake and eat it to may come your way today. At the least be on the lookout for some viable solutions.

March 25: A conflict between your wants and needs is likely to arise today. Be sure you know the difference.

March 29: Full Moon today as described above.

March 31: Look for a course change that will take you in a new direction. Inspiration is out there, so be sure to think outside the proverbial box. Venus slips into Taurus today, her most comfortable environment, which will direct her blessings toward your work, health, service and pets in the days to come.
