Lunations and Long Term Aspects

This month the New Moon occurs on September 8 in Virgo, your 6th House of work, health, service and pets. If your birthday is within a day or of April 5 this will have a more noticeable effect. Expect to make some adjustments or perhaps a complete change of course regarding something in this part of your life. That Cardinal T-Square between Saturn, Pluto and Jupiter/Uranus is still in effect and working toward some major changes in your life which will effect your status or reputation as well as your responsibilities to one or more relationships. Meanwhile, you're continuing to experience a variety of conflicts which will eventually necessitate some adjustments.

You may not feel very motivated for most of this month, at least until the 15th when your Sign Ruler, Mars, goes into Scorpio. Mars is in debility in Libra, where he is for the New Moon, so his energy is dampened. This may not be a bad thing because it will also soften your impulsive nature and give you more inclination to ponder your situation and how to rectify it. Before you'll be able to move forward in a meaningful way which will bring what you're looking for you need to make sure you're seeing things clearly. Progressing where you want to go is going to require some changes. Flashes of inspiration are possible and increasing your awareness and possibly reliance on such means will be to your advantage. They could even point the way toward solutions.

Making your goals reality has been hindered since the 1990s by Neptune's presence in Aquarius. You have roughly two more years of this, but in the meantime be aware of its effect. Neptune can be very inspiration, but also elusive or deceptive. You may be deluged with idealistic or lofty goals that sound terrific, yet also evaporate before your eyes. You may also find that you've encountered a lot of deceptive people during this time, particularly in group settings such as your work environment or organizational ties. Networking efforts may come to naught as well. If you have relationship issues going on you may be taking an idealistic view of them as well. It's nice to dream of that knight in shining armor or conversely that maid in distress, but be sure to recognize reality when you see it. Making your dreams come true is possible, but you need to make sure you know the difference between them and realistic expectations.

Your status, reputation and public image is under review as well. Your sense of responsibility, lack thereof or ability to balance it with the rest of your life is going to be a factor that may have a strong bearing on expanding your personal interests. Opposition and challenges are there but things will improve in due time. Also note that Mercury is retrograde at this time which will further hinder efforts to move forward. Rather this is a time to rethink, re-plan, reconsider and revise your plans, especially if they aren't going in the direction you'd hoped.

The Full Moon on September 23 will bring an ending or culmination of some sort that relates to you at a personal level since this lunation is in Aries. If your birthday is within a day or so of March 21 this will be even stronger. Relationships will be important still and deserve close scrutiny. If anyone is trying to undermine you it could become apparent in an unexpected or sudden manner. Sudden flashes of inspiration or insights are possible which could prove useful while presenting even more obstacles. Nothing worthwhile is going to come easily. By this time, however, Mercury is out of retrograde and in the sign of his dignity, i.e. Virgo. This should help you get your plans and anything else in order. Building and repairs will be easier and likely to proceed more smoothly. Your relationship with someone of the opposite gender is going to have a deep and lasting effect on you in some way or another.

Short Term/Daily Aspects

September 3: News or information related to your work or health is likely which may call for a change of course.

September 4: Focus on your relationship goals today, if they're realistic, and whether you're moving in the right direction.

September 5: An argument is highly likely today which will relate to your work in some way.

September 7: Expect the unexpected with regard to a close relationship and be prepared to make some adjustments.

September 8: New Moon today in Virgo as described above and is likely to affect your work, service or health in some way. Emphasis on relationship issues continue.

September 9: Moving forward with your relationship goals is possible but make sure they're realistic and attainable. Don't be too idealistic or you're likely to be disappointed. Venus enters Scorpio today which has strong implications with regard to your sex life or a significant transformation.

September 10: Jupiter backs into Pisces, your 12th House of angels and demons. Your true feelings toward this part of your life are up for review.

September 11: Mercury comes out of retrograde which will help you move forward more readily with your plans and ideas.

September 12: Expect a blast from the past of some description which will make a significant impact on you.

September 13: A change of course or adjustment will be required today or opted for as it relates to someone close to you.

September 14: Pluto goes direct which will facilitate some cleanup work with regard to your reputation or status over the coming months.

September 15: Mars, your Sign Ruler, goes into Scorpio, releasing his energy in your house of sex, transformation and shared resources.

September 18: Impressive dreams are possible along with some serious inspiration on how you can break free from something that's been holding you back. Opportunities to take care of something from your past could have a significant effect.

September 19: Adjustments related to your work or a project will be required today.

September 21: If anyone at work has been trying to undermine you it will come out today.

September 23: Full Moon today in Aries as described above just as the Sun goes into your polar sign, Libra, bringing emphasis to your relationships for the coming month.

September 25: Deep changes to a relationship are possible which will have an effect on your status or reputation.

September 30: Watch for a lot of action on the mental and spiritual plane today. Find some quiet time to ponder it and what it means. Being restricted by responsibilities to a relationship is likely to be particularly noticeable.
