Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month the New Moon is on September 8 in Virgo, your 2nd House of income, finances, possessions, needs, pleasures and those things you value. Watch for something new to come your way in this part of your life. With Mercury retrograde in that same house you should be putting that internalized energy to work reconsidering, reworking, re-planning or rethinking something in that regard as well. That ongoing T-square mentioned last month is still there, though its affect on Leos is likely to ultimately have positive effects. A T-square brings conflict, however, and this is likely to show up in a way that relates to your thoughts, siblings or neighbors versus your beliefs about their role in your life. Whatever your previous thoughts about this individual(s) may be, it's going to go through significant changes where you may even want to break away entirely from the relationship. This may impact your health or even your job or service activities, depending on the situation. This all sounds somewhat grim, but let's put this into context with your natal Sun.

If you were born between July 23 - 28 this will be stronger than other Leos. For these folks in particular there are opportunities attached to this restructuring of the relationship. There is also a chance that it's not a sibling or neighbor but simply your own thoughts and ideas that are being challenged or being forced into a more serious mode. Your work or health is going to change course in some way through the eventual exposure of something that needs to be resolved. Maybe you need to pay attention to something related to your health or your current job will undergo a complete renovation; in other words you're quite likely to change jobs which will be to your advantage financially. Your beliefs and expectations are likely to expand as well in a very favorable way. Academia could be involved as well as other cultures or even relocating to somewhere that's quite a distance from your current location. Surprises that result in personal transformation are possible as well which will be beneficial. While these situation may not be a cake walk to deal with, ultimately you will benefit, so bear that in mind if the going gets a bit rough. No pain, no gain and all that.

There are a few other interesting aspects involved with this lunation including a conjunction between Venus and Mars. Of course this has romantic implications and could indicate meeting someone new or possibly simply reviving an existing relationship. Venus and Mars also represent money and drive respectively, so this could also provide an opportunity in that direction with this influence the strongest for Leos born between August 18 - 23. Whichever situation it happens to be it's going to influence your beliefs and expectations or those other possibilities noted earlier regarding academia or relocating. One caution if this involves a relationship and that is to make sure that you're not being too idealistic or delusional. While it's possible this person is someone you've dreamed or fantasized about, exercise some caution to be sure it's real. There's a fine line between inspiration and wishful thinking.

The Full Moon on September 23 is in fellow Fire Sign, Aries, your 9th House of beliefs, expectations, academia, other cultures, foreign travel, relocating and so forth. A Full Moon typically brings an ending or shift to a new phase. The T-square is being energized by the Sun/Moon so if you haven't noticed it before you will now or this may simply herald its culmination. Mars and Venus have moved into Scorpio by this time which will bring their influence home to roost in some way, whether it's for love or money. Transformational changes are possible which will take you in a new direction.

Short-term Aspects

September 3: New or ideas that relate to your income or finances is likely.

September 4: Romantic possibilities exist today. Pay attention to what's going on around you, anyone you meet or see in a different light. Financial opportunities close to home are possible as well, but exercise due diligence in checking them out before committing.

September 5: You may want to move forward on something that you really need to think about some more or reconsider.

September 7: Breaking free from something is a possibility which will allow you to pursue a difference course.

September 8: New Moon in Virgo as described above. Think outside the box regarding your situation, especially if you're looking to make significant changes in your life.

September 9: Moving forward sounds good but may not be based on facts or reality. Make sure you're aware of all the risks. Venus enters Scorpio, bringing her blessings to your home environment.

September 10: Jupiter backs into Pisces due to retrograde motion. Jupiter retrograde typically draws attention to ethics issues so ponder any such situations that pertain to you.

September 11: Mercury goes direct which will allow you to think more clearly and move forward with your ideas more readily.

September 12: Pay close attention to female household members and what they have to say. If your budget has been strained lately, it's also a favorable time to think long and hard about your job situation.

September 13: Moving forward with an idea may bring a windfall or major revelation that affects your course of action.

September 14: Pluto goes direct which will allow you to access hidden issues related to your job or possibly your health.

September 15: Mars enters Scorpio, bringing his energy to your home environment. This will be a good time to take action on anything that requires it in that part of your life.

September 18: If that windfall hasn't come your way yet either in the form of financial assistance or a major "Aha!" moment it probably will today. It is very likely to relate to home and work in some way, though you need to be paying attention to your health, also, if it has been a concern lately.

September 19: Seeing something or someone more clearly is likely which will necessitate an adjustment.

September 21: More insights into that major revelation or change in your awareness is possible. Pay attention.

September 23: The Sun goes into Libra, bringing light and attention to your thoughts, neighbors, siblings and local errands. Full Moon today in Aries as described above.

September 25: Further insights into the past with respect to your work or health will come to mind which have an important message.

September 30: Transformational experiences related to your homelife are possible. Awareness of your responsibilities will be strong.
