Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month's Full Moon is on December 6 in fellow Mutable Sign, Gemini, your 4th house of home environment, cultural roots, memories, endings and new beginnings. A Full Moon typically brings an ending, culmination or shift to a new phase which give an even strong indication for that to occur in this particular house which often suggests that as well. If your birthday is right around March 5 this lunation is more likely to affect you. With the Sun in Sagittarius, your 10th house of career, status, public image and status, you are probably seeing some action there as well. News or information are possible in that regard and could bring some surprises or changes related to your income, possessions or perhaps even a chance to relax and enjoy yourself. A previous obligation to a friend or organization may be in the way but you can get around that with some effort.

Your sign ruler, Neptune, is conjunct your natal Sun if your birthday is right around February 23. This will increase your Piscean traits significantly, both on the positive and negative side. It's a great boost for your imagination, taking life easy and pondering the state of the Universe but not so good for keeping track of time, disciplining yourself to do those things you know you should do, or keeping up with reality in general.

On December 8 your traditional sign ruler, Jupiter, stations retrograde in Leo, your 6th house of work, health, service and pets. If your birthday is right around March 13 this occurs quincunx your natal Sun and suggests a change of direction in that part of your life. While retrograde Jupiter turns a bit introspective and philosophical, making it a favorable time to ponder such things as whether or not you are in the right job or whether there is something else you'd rather be doing. News or information pertaining to your status or career is still possible and may bring an emotional shift that aids the process. This won't necessarily be an easy change but holds a lot of potential if you're willing to take on the challenge. Make sure you don't sabotage yourself, particularly if you don't feel as if you deserve a positive change.

December 21 is a busy day astrologically with three notable events occurring. First of all, Uranus stations direct. He's in partile (same degree) square with Pluto, which is undoubtedly stirring up a variety of things worldwide. Stationing keeps him in that degree a bit longer which also draws out the aspect. An opportunity to pursue a dream or vision could present itself but is likely to entail some effort or assistance from a friend or organization. Inspiration could derive from that area as well so be sure to do some socializing and hanging out because you never know who may be the conduit to the information you need.

A mere eighteen minutes and twenty-two seconds after Uranus stations the Sun enters Capricorn, marking the Winter Solstice in the Northern Hemisphere and Summer Solstice in the Southern Hemisphere. When the Sun goes into a Cardinal Sign it marks the beginning of a new season which can relate on both the literal and figurative level. There's a lot of energy in Capricorn which represents your 11th house of friends, groups, organizations, goals, hopes and wishes. There could be some obstacles, however, with Uranus in Aries, your 2nd house of income, possessions, finances, needs, comforts and pleasures since Uranus tends to stir things up with surprises, disruptions and unexpected events. There is quite a bit of inspiration out there, however, as noted earlier, so tune into your intuition and see where it takes you.

Two hours, thirty-two minutes and fifty seconds later the Moon joins the Sun for this month's New Moon, obviously also in Capricorn. This suggests something new coming your way in your 11th house as defined earlier. This could be a new friend or goal, the latter of which is particularly apropos this time of year as the New Year rolls around. If your birthday is right around February 19 watch for a new opportunity. Saturn is conjunct your 10th house cusp which suggests responsibilities coming your way which are likely to be a challenge while also presenting various situations which will allow you to grow and progress.
