Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month it's time again for Mercury to do another retrograde gig, this time throwing it into reverse in Cancer, your 6th house of work, health, service and pets, on June 7 then backing into Gemini for a spell and then stationing direct again in that sign on June 30. If your birthday is right around January 24 the retrograde station is quincunx your natal Sun, suggesting a change of direction related to a project at work. This suggests that something you may have thought was complete is going to require some revision or a decision you made comes back for reconsideration. Gemini is your 5th house of creativity, ego definition, romance, children, entertainment and speculation so this part of your life will be involved as well and if your birthday is right around February 13 he will station direct trining your natal Sun which suggests a new decision or idea in that part of your life. Mercury rules both your 5th house as described above and your 8th of transformations so this could bring something significant.

The entire station chart has the potential to influence the character of this retrograde period. Saturn is retrograde in Scorpio, your 10th house of career, reputation, public image and status and could be slowing things down or creating obstacles in that part of your life. Saturn is at the eye of a yod when Mercury stations so if your birthday is right around February 6 Saturn is squaring your natal Sun which could stir things up a bit. The base of the yod comprises Uranus in Aries and the Sun in fellow Air Sign, Gemini, the latter of which trine your Sun while Uranus is in a slightly wide but viable sextile.

Uranus is in your 3rd house of thoughts, ideas, siblings, neighbors and local travel which can bring various disruptions and a hectic pace but also has the potential for innovative thoughts, breaking free of old patterns and such. The Sun is in your 5th, defined above as your house of creativity. Putting all that together suggests a creative idea that could restructure your career. You may not know what Saturn is up to until July 20 when he goes direct but you are probably noticing things going on around you already that could influence that part of your life. Thus, pay attention to any ideas that come along that could have a significant impact on your career or status. Thus, this retrograde period seems to be focused on your job and career, making it a favorable time for rethinking or reconsidering what is going on but not necessarily a good time to start a new endeavor or project. Remember that buying anything mechanical or electronic during this period is also a no-no unless you enjoy dealing with such items when they don't operate properly.

The Full Moon on June 12 is in Sagittarius, your 11th house of goals, friends, groups, organizations, networking, hopes and wishes. This suggests an ending, culmination or shift to a new phase for something in this part of your life. If your birthday is right around February 11 this is most likely to have a bearing. Jupiter in your 6th house is tied into the lunation and suggesting a change of course or direction. Whatever this may involve, remember Mercury is still RX so put off an actual start on anything until the start of July when he's direct or it may only be a false start. Mercury RX is useful for revising, editing, rethinking and redoing, however, so that kind of activity is okay. Venus is in Taurus, one of the signs she rules which constitutes your 4th house of home environment, memories, cultural roots, endings and new beginnings and she's opposing Saturn over there in your house of career which suggests the need to balance any career or status issues with your homelife. If you're deeply involved in a project at work it may be too easy to stay late and somewhat neglect your home obligations but keeping the two on an equal keel is advised.

The New Moon on June 27 is in Cancer, your 6th house of work, health, service and pets which suggests something new is coming in this area. The trine to Neptune suggests there will be money implications but the square from Neptune to Venus suggests this will actually present a challenge. For example, you may be offered your dream job but it involves a cut in pay. This could thus necessitate some changes in your finances but would probably be worth it since there is little else more stressful than a job you hate with the exception, of course, of being involved in a bad relationship. A conflict could arise between your thoughts and beliefs at this time as well and may require dealing with something lurking in your subconscious that is holding things back. Don't expect to make a lot of forward progress this month but use Mercury's energy to go back and rethink something that's been giving you grief and figure out what you need to do to right your course.
