Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month Mercury has another retrograde gig which is somewhat ironic after just getting it in gear again since your sign ruler, Mars, came out of that condition on May 20. This implies that whatever direction you took off in at that time may need to be reconsidered, revised or reworked. Mercury throws it into reverse in Cancer, your 4th house of home environment, memories, cultural roots, endings and new beginnings which suggests this is the area to look at for Mercury's message. If your birthday is right around March 24 this station squares your natal Sun which gives it more personal significance. If your birthday is right around April 5 then Uranus is currently parked on your natal Sun which besides making you more impatient, rebellious, and freedom loving than usual and probably bringing a hectic pace and increased nervousness also bring in the influence of a yod.

Uranus in Aries and the Sun in Gemini, your 3rd house of thoughts, ideas, siblings, neighbors and local travel, form the yod's base which can bring some information and perhaps even some meaning to Uranus' restlessness. Saturn is at the eye in Scorpio, your 8th house of transformations, shared resources, sex, death and regeneration, things you suppress and intense experiences. Saturn is retrograde until July 20 so all the implications may not surface until after that time but bear in mind that Saturn RX relates to restructuring some part of your life. Putting this together, you may finally be able to figure out why you've been so restless and see what needs to change in your life from the yod while Mercury retrograde is excellent for rethinking and reconsidering.

Mars has gone direct in Libra, your 7th house of relationships including your significant other, close friends and relatives, business partners, business professionals, cliental, competitors and open enemies. This implies action in this part of your life with the opposition with Uranus suggesting breaking away from someone in one of those roles. Pluto is tied into them both forming a T-square and indicating the need to dispose of something you no longer need. Venus in your 2nd house of income, possessions, comforts, needs, finances and pleasures suggests this will be a beneficial move and create a change of direction.

The Full Moon on June 12 is in Sagittarius, your 9th house of beliefs, expectations, higher learning, philosophy of life, religion, politics, other cultures, relocation and long-distance travel suggesting an ending, culmination or shift to a new phase for something in that part of your life. If your birthday is right around April 12 this lunation is likely to contain an opportunity for you to follow your heart toward something you believe in. Jupiter is tied in with the lunation, expanding the effects that will probably relate to your home environment. At this point Venus is still in your money house but opposing Saturn which suggests restructuring your finances yet again. Those of you born around April 18 have the lunar South Node on your natal Sun which typically also indicates something going out of your life which allows something new to come in which is likely to involve a relationship.

The New Moon on June 27 is in Cancer, your 4th house of home environment and so forth as noted earlier and seems to be a likely indicator of a new beginning. The lunation is trining Neptune in your 12th house suggesting this could open new vistas to follow your dreams. You may be in a bit of a quandary, however, wondering whether or not you should. It appears that making it all work will not be easy but will involve some effort on your part but this is not something that usually presents a problem to a Ram who thrives on a good challenge. Remember that Mercury is still retrograde until June 30 which suggests a series of do-loops or iterations regarding your plans. On June 18 Mercury backs into Gemini, further stimulating the rethinking process until he stations direct on June 30th. Over all, this looks like a month of planning and replanning as well as the consideration of relationship situations that probably impact your finances as well. Remember that Mercury Rx is a time to avoid obtaining any new items, particularly mechanical or electronic devices unless you want to deal with them malfunctioning, which I doubt.
