Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month there is quite a bit less cosmic activity than last month other than the usual lunations and Mars stationing direct on May 20, which is actually pretty significant because now we can get back on track and "Git 'er Dun." Of course you may still be cleaning up some of the messes left by that Cardinal Grand Cross, especially if your birthday is right around July 6 in which case it may have hit you like a train with Jupiter parked on your natal Sun and Pluto opposing it. Mars stationing hits you square in the Sun if your birthday is right around July 1. This should give you a burst of energy to get some things taken care of at home that you may have had significant inertia regarding up until now.

Pluto in your 7th house of relationships is going to be transformational with numerous issues transpiring there so you can expect a variety of experiences in that area. Expect how you interact with some individuals in your life to change, perhaps dramatically, see some people eliminated from your life entirely for one reason or another, and perhaps a few power trips along the way as well as perhaps more awareness of your own source or need for power over this part of your life. Cancer is a sign that values family and feels things more deeply than you may let on to outsiders but if your inherent good nature has been taken advantage of in the past now may be when you decide enough is enough and speak your piece.

The Moon is your sign ruler, as you probably already know, so these lunations probably have more impact for you than some of the other signs. The Full Moon this month on May 14 occurs in fellow Water Sign, Scorpio, and will trine your natal Sun if your birthday is right around July 16, giving it more influence. Those of you born around July 10 have Jupiter conjunct your natal Sun which can have an inflationary effect on events that affect you at the personal level, for good or bad.

Uranus and Venus are conjunct in Aries, your 10th house of career, status, reputation and public image which is likely to bring some surprises, perhaps related to love or money, especially if your birthday is right around July 6. Input or some insights deriving from your subconscious or perhaps a family member, could be helpful but complications may arise from a business partner or competitor who may be the source of the issue in the first place. However you imagined things working out is likely to change direction at this time but watch for an opportunity in it all. The Sun is in your 11th house which includes friends, goals, hopes, wishes, networking, organizations and groups so factor that part of your life into things as well.

The New Moon on May 28 is in Gemini, your 12th house of dreams, visions, subconscious mind, collective consciousness, enlightenment, inspiration, spirituality, confinement, seclusion, institutions, hidden enemies and self-defeating behaviors so expect something new to come along in this area. This could be anything from inspiration regarding how to handle a family situation to needing some alone time or perhaps even visiting someone in the hospital. If you have any dealings in progress with legal or insurance implications be on the lookout for mistakes or blatant deceit; in other words, watch your back. If your expectations have been too idealistic this may come to your attention and undergo some adjustments as you decide what needs to be done.

By this time Jupiter is on you Sun if your birthday is right around July 12. This can increase your workload or perhaps even your importance and influence in that sphere where your opinions have more impact than usual. If your 5th house of creativity, children, self-expression, ego development, entertainment and speculation has been stagnant lately you can blame that on Saturn retrograde, a condition which will change July 20. Saturn RX is generally an indicator of something that needs to be restructured or rebuilt. Your responsibilities in this area may increase and force the issue of reorganizing a few things to make life easier.
