Lunations and Long-term Aspects

This month is quite a bit quieter than October between its eclipses and Mercury retrograde but remember the effects of those eclipses can linger for a while so if either of them hit your chart you may still encounter some fallout; this pertains primarily to those of you born March 21 or April 5. Mercury stationing direct could have also brought a blast or two your way by reactivating that Saturn-Uranus quincunx that persisted for six long weeks during the summer which charged up that particular degree. That would be most applicable to those of you born April 6 or who have a planet at 16 degrees of any sign.

The Full Moon this month on November 6 is in nextdoor neighboring sign, Taurus, your 2nd house of income, finances, possessions, needs, comforts and pleasures. Watch for an ending, culmination or shift to a new phase of something in this part of your life. Those most likely to be affected have birthdays right around April 4. Jupiter continues to transit Leo, your 5th house of creativity, children, romance, ego, entertainment and speculation which could inflate that part of your life. This may sound like fun but keep things reined into a reasonable level or you may not like the result. Saturn is in your 8th house of intense experiences, transformations, death and rebirth, sex, things you suppress, debt and shared resources and being the king of karma could slap you upside the head if you get too carried away.

Those of you born around April 3 have Uranus conjunct your natal Sun which is likely to keep things hopping as well. You may be more hyper than usual these days and feel restricted to the point of suffocation by those around you making demands. This could bring about a significant change of direction, perhaps even one that has been brewing for quite a while such as a major career change or other status issue. Making such a change is not necessarily easy but certainly worth consideration if you're unhappy with the status quo. With your sign ruler, Mars, now in Capricorn where he is exalted this energy in your house of career may come in very handy. It's all a matter of making up your mind.

Neptune stations direct on November 16 in your other nextdoor neighbor, Pisces, your 12th house of spirituality, dreams, visions, enlightenment, institutions, confinement, seclusion, hidden enemies and self-undoing. Neptune rules that sign so he is comfortable and effective there which can bring you additional help as far as inspiration is concerned. There is a lot of energy in Scorpio, your 8th house of transformations, for this station so that inspiration could bring a major change of direction. The station chart includes a yod, a.k.a. "finger of God," which often has fated implications. The eye comprises Uranus in your sign which also targets those of you born April 3 as previously noted. The base includes the Moon in Virgo and Mercury in Scorpio, hinting at a transformational idea that comes about related to how you feel about your work and career, perhaps lending some assistance toward any needed change.

The New Moon on November 22 is in fellow Fire Sign, Sagittarius, your 9th house of beliefs, expectations, legal matters, higher learning, other cultures, long-distance travel, and relocation. The lunation trines your Sun if your birthday is right around March 21. Whatever this brings could encounter some subconscious resistance that you'll need to address. Also make sure that your expectations are realistic and your plans not too impulsive. There could be some ego issues involved which you'll need to deal with before making any progress. Opportunities are out there but they could bring enough change that you aren't entirely comfortable pursuing them. This is when you have to decide exactly what your goals are and what will be required to get there. You love to make up your script along the way but there are times in life when a viable plan is what's needed to get where you want.
